

EUROPEAN ORNITHOLOGISTS' UNION

Call for Symposia proposals

11th EOU Conference
Turku, Finland
18 – 22 August 2017

Deadline: 14th November 2016

We invite you to submit symposia proposals for the 11th Conference of the European Ornithologists' Union, to be held in Turku, Finland. The EOU conference offers a unique opportunity for presenting your research to a diverse audience of European avian researchers, and to highlight a topic that you are passionate about.

A symposium should focus around a clear theme which can be expected to be of interest beyond a highly specialist group. A symposium consists of a 5 min. introduction presented by the conveners, a 25 min. review of the theme and 4 talks of 15 min. each (this includes questions and moving between symposia). We envisage that the review and 2 or 3 talks are organised by the conveners and 1 or 2 talks can be later selected from contributed talks proposed by conference participants. All talks organised by conveners must be confirmed by the time of submission of the application. Please ensure that the talks are given by people from different groups and preferably from different countries. Note, no single person should present more than a single talk during the same EOU conference.

Symposium Proposal: Your proposal should include the title, a brief description of the topic, convener names and affiliations, and the presenters and (tentative) titles of the review and talks. It should be no longer than one A4 page.

Deadline: The deadline for submitting symposium proposals is 14th November 2016.

Submission: Submit your symposium proposal as an email attachment (preferably in pdf format) to Prof. Zoltan Barta, the Scientific Programme Committee chairman, barta.zoltan@science.unideb.hu
